Moderato

When I dream of Ire-land I dream of the ros-es A breath of the sham-ocks a-Though po-ets have sung of it's beau-ty and splen-dor There's man-y a vol-ume re-

mid new-moun hay, And the I-rish Col-leen I have seen in my dream Is the mains-to be said, For the dew on the grass are the tears from my lass, But they'll queen that I mean to mar-ry some day Back in the moss cov-ered pass when I ask my dar-lin' to wed While harps are strum-ming a shack soon I'll be where a breath of old Ire-land is hea-ven to me, sweet mel-o-dy all the bees will be hum-ming a wel-come for me,

REFRAIN

And oh, how I long for a breath of old Ire-land, a breath of the mp

moun-tain, a breath of the sea, And it's no i-dle boast for all I love most is o-ver there wait-ing for me.

The breeze in the trees seems to whis-per "A - cush - la" the birds on the wing sing it too Shure and when I re - turn they will tranquillo

know how I yearn for a breath of old Ire-land and you.
